

Kettlebrook Short Stay School, Tamworth, Staffordshire have been formally recognised as a fully inclusive school by the nationally recognised charter mark through IQM – Inclusion Quality Mark (UK) Ltd. The Headteacher, Kirsty Rogers and the Chair of Management Committee, John Brodie attended the awards ceremony at the Institute of Directors, Mall Pall, London at the end of Sept 2017. They were presented the award by their assessor, Dave Stott and the managing director, Joe MaCann.

Kettlebrook is one of a couple of school's in Staffordshire to have been awarded the highest level of award – Flagship status, for being fully inclusive to all its students, parents/carers, community of Tamworth. <https://iqmaward.com/news/kettlebrook-sss-achieves-flagship-status/> The school has achieved this due to the commitment to all of its staff in working together in this child centred school. The staff have a clear understanding of it's students and plan Individual Learning Plans for each student to enable them to achieve the academic and social success that they deserve. This can't be achieved without the expertise of the staff, their dedication and abilities to see the individual child and identify their needs; as well as a committed and highly skilled Management Committee to challenge and support the Headteacher and her team of staff to ensure that the school continues to deliver the best quality holistic education for each student within the funding that it receives.
